

Important Developments Presaged in Refutation Of Tillery Identification

Postoffice Inspector As- serts Tillery Named by Bunco Men as Fleecer of Nations.

VICTIM'S EARLIER CLAIMS CONVINCING

No Hesitation Shown by Nations in First Identification—Boykin Denies Influence.

Important developments are expected to follow the refutation of his identification of Mark Tillery by J. A. Nations, Oakfield farmer, who took the stand as the star witness for the state in the criminal division of the superior court Wednesday and declared that he did not identify Tillery as the man who fled him of $3,500 and that he only identified him in El Paso, Texas, through a code of signals arranged with him by Bert Donaldson. "This man, he stated, was an attaché of Solicitor-General Boykin's office."

Following immediately upon the unexpected close of the Tillery trial came the revelation from H. N. Graham, postoffice inspector, that Tillery was named as the third bunco man who took part in the fleeing of Nations in confessions made by Swift Klein and Art Young. The latter has already entered a plea of guilty to his part of the swindle and is now serving a sentence of one year in the federal penitentiary, while Klein will be tried in a few days on a similar charge.

Further, Mr. Graham pointed out that Nations had satisfied the federal district attorney, the solicitor-general and two grand juries as to Tillery's identity before he started on the much-heralded trip to El Paso, and that the day before the trial Wednesday Nations stated to him in the presence of others that "he could identify Tillery's hide in a tan yard," and reiterated that Tillery was the man who worked with Klein and Young.

Picked Tillery's Picture. Mr. Graham stated that when the federal agents found out from certain members of the confidence game that a man by the name of J. A. Nations had been swindled out of $3,500 that they had started to get him, and that he was given a bunch of pictures and without any hesitation picked out the pictures of Tillery, Young and Klein and made a most detailed statement as to the methods used in getting his money.

In addition to this the federal inspector stated that he caught Tillery red-handed in the act of taking $5,000 from Tom Kite in El Paso. He then wired for Nations to come to Texas and identify the man, and according to Mr. Graham, there was absolutely no crooked work in the identification of Tillery, himself, two other federal men, and the jailer were in criminal collusion with Bert Donaldson, who, Tillery stated on examination by his attorney, William Schley Howard, had arranged a code of signals so that he would identify the right man.

According to the city, if Tillery was brought into the room with other men and Nations was asked to pick him out, Donaldson, who knew Tillery, was to raise his hand to his face.

This action by Donaldson would indicate which of the group was Tillery, and would enable Nations to identify him. Nations then declared that on the way to El Paso Donaldson gave him two photographs of Tillery, telling him to study both pictures so as to be able to identify the prisoner in El Paso.

Rated Hand, Claim. When Nations and Donaldson arrived at the hotel, Donaldson was asked to show him the man who had been swindled out of $3,500.

TOTAL FARM VALUE IN GEORGIA SHOWS REMARKABLE GAIN

Farm Properties in State Worth More Than Double Value Given in 1910 Report.

REMARKABLE FIGURES RELEASED BY CENSUS

Total Cultivated Acreage Drops, But Georgia Stands Second Only to Texas in Farm Numbers.

BY CLARK HOWELL, JR., Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, June 23.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—Although there were a million and a half fewer acres in Georgia devoted to farms in 1920 than in 1910, the value of the farm lands and buildings had increased from $479,204,332 in 1910 to $1,140,518,227. The number of Georgia farms increased during the decade from 291,027 to 310,732. These figures were released today by the bureau of the census, department of commerce.

In commenting upon the remarkable increase in the value of farm buildings and lands, the bureau takes occasion to call attention to the fact that present values are in all probability considerably lower than they were in 1920. Due allowance must be made, warns the bureau, for the fact that farm values in many localities were abnormally high at the beginning of the year 1920, and that present values might be considerably less than those reported at the time of the census.

The figures prepared by the census bureau show that Georgia has a greater number of farms than any state in the union with the exception of Texas. They also reveal the fact that the south Atlantic states contain the greatest number of farms of any other geographical section, while in 1910 the east north central states led in this respect.

Farms in United States. The number of farms in the United States in 1920, according to the fourteenth census, was 4,448,368, as compared with 4,361,502 in 1910, showing an increase of 1.4 per cent. The total area of land in farms in 1920 was 955,676,545 acres, as against 878,725,325 acres in 1910, showing an increase of 8.7 per cent.

The value of all farms in the United States on January 1, 1920, (value of land and buildings), was $67,795,965,384, as compared with $34,891,125,697 on April 15, 1910. The increase in the value of farms during the decade was $32,904,839,687, or 94.8 per cent.

Among the other measures to be introduced in the house and senate this morning will be a bill by Speaker Neill, which would put the Australian ballot system in effect in Georgia. Senator John H. Jones, of the thirty-seventh district, will introduce a similar bill in the senate.

The Muscogee speaker has favored the bill.

Assembly Heads Confer On Committee Posts; Napier Is Held Elected

Attorney-General - Elect May Take Office Tomorrow, When Hardwick Is Administered Oath.

THOMAS IS SLATED FOR HIGH POSITION

Final Plans Are Rounded for Inauguration—Decks Tomorrow to Be Cleared for Action.

Final preparations for the inauguration and important conferences of President Herbert Clay and Speaker Cecil Neill with leaders of both houses relative to committee appointments, Thursday night indicated that the ship of state will be cleared for action Saturday when Governor Hugh M. Dorsey's final message is received and Thomas W. Hardwick succeeds him in office.

Senator James R. Thomas, of the second district, will be vice chairman of the rules committee, which is considered the second most important post in the senate, ranking next to the office of the president in influence.

Decision Pending. Decision on the other chairmanships has not been reached by President Clay, but it is known he has several senators under consideration for each place, and will have his list completed by Tuesday morning, if possible. The membership of each committee will be composed of men best suited for the required work, said Mr. Clay, and each section of the state will be represented, he added.

Speaker Neill has not yet announced his probable selections, but it is understood he will do so after conference today.

Attorney-General-elect George M. Napier is expected to go into office tomorrow with the governor-elect, the general assembly having passed a joint resolution declaring him elected and requesting the governor to issue him a commission.

Discusses Finance. Governor Dorsey's final message makes a careful review of the state's financial condition, suggests various methods of bringing relief, cites a large number of lynchings that have occurred in Georgia since he has been chief executive and recommends the establishment of a state constabulary and extension of the governor's authority to curb violations of the law.

The predicament of the state is inevitable, the message will state, owing to inadequate tax laws and excessive appropriations made by the legislature.

Council Favors Vote To Decide Annexation Of Kirkwood To City

Taking Over by Atlanta of Kirkwood's $140,000 Bonded Indebtedness Involved in Discussion.

ANNEXATION BILL IN ASSEMBLY URGED

All of Mayor Bryan's Demands Approved by Council in Resolutions. Opposition Speaks.

As the result of city council's action Thursday afternoon, after long and tedious debate, the proposed merger of Kirkwood with Atlanta is now dependent on the following successful steps:

Passage by the Georgia legislature of a measure to be introduced by the Fulton and DeKalb county legislators submitting the question to a referendum of the voters of Kirkwood.

Adoption by the Kirkwood voters of the referendum.

A special election to be called by the Atlanta council in which a majority vote of Atlanta citizens is cast in favor of assuming the bonded indebtedness of Kirkwood—about $140,000.

The council first passed a resolution requesting the Fulton and DeKalb delegations to introduce the measure in the general assembly submitting the matter of the annexation to the action of Kirkwood's qualified voters.

Then separately a long list of demands which Mayor T. J. Bryan, of Kirkwood, has made on Atlanta as conditions under which Kirkwood would be willing to merge with this city, were introduced and after more than an hour's debate, as they were called up item by item, they were accepted in their entirety, except the section requesting Atlanta to assume the municipality's bonded indebtedness.

With this exception the members voted to recommend that the 1922 council adopt the demands.

Effective in 1922.

Since the merger is not planned to become effective until 1922, the point was raised on the majority of the demands that the present council has no legal right to make promises binding a succeeding council, and therefore the council could only show its favorable attitude Thursday by adopting recommendations.

On a point of legality raised by Alderman Harry Goodhart concerning the taking over of Kirkwood's bonded indebtedness, the city attorney ruled that this cannot lawfully be done without the consent of a majority of the voters at an election held to determine their views on the matter.

The privilege of the floor was extended to Councilman J. R. Bachman, of Kirkwood, an annexationist, and Mayor Bryan, who, with six other members of the Kirkwood council, are opposed to the annexation.

ASKS WIDE POWER ON FOREIGN LOANS

Washington, June 23.—Broad authority for the treasury department is "essential" to the administration's plans for refunding foreign loans, Secretary Mellon declared in a letter to President Harding.

The bill was forwarded to Chairman Penrose, of the senate finance committee, and Chairman Fordney, of the house ways and means committee, by President Harding and immediately introduced in the senate by Senator Penrose. It would confer blanket authority on the treasury, with approval of the president, to reconvert or extend loans and interest payments, to accept foreign securities, and to settle claims now secured.

Mr. Harding wrote the two chairmen that "all the circumstances suggest the grant of broad powers to the secretary of the treasury to handle this problem in such a manner as best to protect the interests of our government."

Harding approved. "I hope your committee and congress," the president's letter continued, "will find it expedient to promptly to sanction such an act as that which is suggested in the enclosed draft, so that the treasury authority, the secretary of the treasury may proceed to the prompt execution of the powers granted to him, and we reasonably may expect a satisfactory handling of the obligations due and the claims of our government which are awaiting settlement."

Secretary Mellon prefaced his letter to the president with a table summarizing the war debt of foreign governments to the United States as follows:

Obligations for advances made under the various Liberty bond acts: $4,335,225,329.24; obligations received from the American relief administration, $4,933,933.55; obligations received from the secretary of war and from the secretary of the navy on account of the claims of our government held by the United States Grain corporation, $26,899,879.99; total, $10,141,267,585.68.

Delays Alleged In Compensation Ex-Service Men

Bribery and Tipping Commonplace in Hospitals, Veteran Asserts.

Washington, June 23.—Numerous complaints of delays in the granting of compensation to former service men were today presented to the senate committee investigating governmental agencies dealing with the veterans. In some instances a year elapsed, the committee was told, before relief was obtained, and then the ratings given generally were unsatisfactory.

Seventy such cases were submitted by Frank J. Williams, of Buffalo, N. Y., himself temporarily totally disabled because of wounds. The witness said that when discharged from the hospital at Plattsburg, N. Y., he was given a disability rating of ten per cent which entitled him to twelve dollars a month compensation. The rating was subsequently increased to forty dollars per month, and a few days ago to eighty dollars, his application for the increase having been on file with the bureau of war risk insurance since September. He stated it was the common experience of the veterans to have delays of two and three months in getting relief from the bureau.

Many former service men now in government and contract hospitals are in need of clothing, and are dependent on charity for many of the necessities of life, according to letters filed with the committee by Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts. One letter referring to the government hospital at Greenville, S. C., stated that two hundred tuberculous patients there had received no compensation.

That bribery and tipping for privileges was commonplace in the government and contract hospitals was stated by a witness whose name was withheld. He disclosed about better checks, representing approximately $400, drawn by himself and used to pay for such necessities as food, clothing, and medicine. He informed the committee that the punishment for having protested against conditions in a government hospital he was placed in the insane ward and held there six days before he obtained his release by bribing a sergeant.

Became A Court Reporter After Three Months Study At The Southern Business College

A Graduate of the Southern Offered Two Positions, and Accepts One With a Large Life Insurance Company.

Summer classes are now forming at the Southern Shorthand and Business University, 11 Whitehall street, and up to this date the June enrollment has exceeded that of the corresponding month last year.

This significant fact clearly shows that the Southern is becoming more popular every day, and also that prosperity is approaching at a rapid pace.

The Southern's unequalled facilities enable it to do more for its students in the same length of time than can be done at any other similar school in the south.

This is shown in the unparalleled example of Mr. W. E. Mims, who did court reporting after three months' study at the Southern. His letter below will truly be an inspiration to young people who wish to make the greatest success in life:

"Southern Shorthand and Business University, Atlanta, Ga.

Dublin, Ga., June 23.—(Special.) D. J. Spivey, a prominent farmer and former merchant, committed suicide at his home in this city shortly after 6 o'clock this morning by shooting himself through the heart with a shotgun. Mr. Spivey was known to have suffered financial reverses during the past few months, and had been in ill health and despondent.

Arising at the usual hour this morning he procured a shotgun from a neighbor on the pretense of shooting a rabbit and walked a short distance from his home and ended his life. He tied a handkerchief around one foot and secured it to the trigger of the gun, then bending over the gun in a standing position, sent a heavy load of shot through his left chest. Mr. Spivey was 54 years of age. He leaves a wife and three children.

Palms, ferns and trailing vines transformed the chancel of the church into a bower of rich greenery. Beautiful floor baskets filled with pink and white gladioli stood in relief against the green background, and at intervals were massive candelabra holding white burning tapers.

Bridal Attendants. Miss Ann Senn, of Birmingham, a cousin of the bride, was maid of green chiffon tulle, with an overskirt of embroidered organza. Her bridesmaids were Misses Irene George, who was gowned in turquoise blue tulle, the skirt was gowned in gray with a white sash, and carried a bouquet of pink gladioli. The little flower girl, Margaret Hulse, wore a dainty gown of white organza, with little green sash and ribbons. She carried a basket of pink sweet peas, tied with a fluffy tulle bow.

Ray Holloway acted as best man. The bride entered with her father, Jefferson S. Dickert, who gave her in marriage, and was lovely in her dainty white gown, which was trimmed in lace. The court train hung gracefully from her shoulders and her hair was caught in her soft hair with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and swansons.

The bride's mother, the groom's mother, were a gown of gray, with a sash of white tulle. The bride's book was kept by Miss Daisy Whitehead.

The church was artistically decorated with palms and white gladioli, and the altar was banked with white flowers. The bride and groom were seated under a beautiful green and white wedding bell during the ceremony, and the bride was in marriage by her father.

Mrs. C. D. Hancock rendered the wedding march, and W. A. De Lamar sang "Mine" and "Because," just before the ceremony.

Wedding Attendants. Miss Zilla Tyler, of Waynesboro, and Miss Jessie Majors, of Memphis, were bridesmaids. Each carried bouquets of sweetpeas, tied with butterfly bows. Miss Tyler wore a gown of pink tulle, and Miss Majors wore yellow georgette. Miss George's costume was of cream lace over pink satin.

The bride's mother, Mrs. John Whitehead, was a matron in blue lace, and wore a handsome gown of orchid tulle over Georgette of self color.

Little Sara Frances Aven and Dick Webster were flower bearers, carrying baskets of sweetpeas. Webster McLendon, the groom's brother, acted as best man.

The bride was never more lovely than in her wedding gown of white tulle, combined with lace and caught with orange blossoms. It was fashioned with a long court train, and was seeded with pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses, which she wore.

Following the ceremony, a reception was given at the home of the bride's parents.

WHY YEAST BUILDS FLESH

Thousands Stay Thin on Ordinary Foods, Because They Lack Vitamins—Now Obtainable in Tablet Form.

No matter how heartily we eat, if certain all-important vitamins, called "vitamins," are lacking in our diet, we will be under-nourished. Only in the last few years have scientists recognized that nearly all cases of anemia, neurasthenia, symptoms and run-down condition are simply due to a lack of vitamins in the body. Nearly all modern foods contain very few vitamins. And yet we must have a constant supply of these miraculous little organisms, which alone are so essential to health and vitality. And now it has been discovered that a small quantity of ordinary yeast, taken regularly, will supply all the vitamins needed for glowing health. Added to the diet, yeast makes old people younger, restores energy and normal weight to the thin and run-down, and has a wonderfully beneficial effect on growing children. Yeast also clears up bad, pimply complexion and banishes blemishes.

"The Miracle of Yeast" is still a new thing to most people, but its amazing value as a health-builder has been proven beyond doubt by numerous experiments in great medical institutions. The real problem of scientists has been to obtain just the correct form of yeast. This is known as brewer's yeast. The common yeast cake is ineffective because it is only about 20% yeast and the rest starch and water.

At last the perfect yeast combination, highest in vitamin-strength, has been worked out by famous chemists. It is a concentrated vitamin tablet prepared from brewer's yeast and certain reliable tonics such as iron, which increase the effect of yeast itself.

These are called IRONIZED YEAST and are sold by nearly all druggists. IRONIZED YEAST tablets are the approved vitamin tonic treatment, put up in convenient size to carry in the pocket, and are pleasant to take and do not nauseate. IRONIZED YEAST tablets cost but a trifle more than the common yeast cake (only 10 cents a day) and are much more effective. Try a package today. You will notice the benefit before you finish the first few days' treatment. Special directions for children's use are in each package. Made by the Ironized Yeast Company, Atlanta, Ga.

TO BE NAMED NASH STATE GUARD HEAD

Governor-elect Thomas W. Hardwick Thursday announced that he will appoint Joseph Van Holt Nash as adjutant general of Georgia, the appointment to be made immediately after the governor-elect is sworn in.

Since 1914 Adjutant General Nash has served as the head of the state military department with the exception of the period he served as a major in the recent war with Germany. He was appointed adjutant general in 1914 by Governor Joseph Brown.

For a long period of years General Nash has been interested in military work. He was first identified as an officer in the Spanish-American war when he served as captain of company in the second regiment of Georgia Volunteers. Returning from that war he served in the national guard until his appointment as the head of that organization in 1914.

When the United States entered the war with Germany General Nash went to the second officers' training camp at Fort Oglethorpe, where he won the rank of major, being one of the two men in the class with distinction in the world war and returned to take up his post as head of the state military department.

In the next two years a comprehensive plan for reorganizing the Georgia national guard will be carried out under the direction of General Nash. He has been working on the plan for the last year and is familiar with all details of the work.

HEARING ON CAR SERVICE TO CAMP SET FOR JUNE 28

The state railroad commission, at an executive session held Thursday afternoon, issued an order citing the Georgia Light and Power company to appear before the commission Tuesday, June 28, and show why it should not continue to operate its street railway line to Camp Gordon.

Because the United States government has issued orders to the street railway company to remove all its cars, rails and other property from the government lands at Camp Gordon by June 28.

Recently the street railway company filed a notice with the state commission notifying that it contemplated discontinuing its service to Camp Gordon, calling attention to its original petition to establish this service, in which it was stated that such service was temporary.

Many property owners living at Chamblie and other points served by the Camp Gordon line have protested against its discontinuance. They will be given an opportunity to present their side of the case to the commission at the hearing Tuesday.

TRIAL IS STARTED IN DAMAGE SUIT IN BOY'S DEATH

Suit for $20,000 damages brought by Mrs. Mary B. Sams against the Atlanta Gas Light company for the death of her sixteen-year-old son, whom she claims was asphyxiated by the escaping gas escaping from a defective pipe was begun Thursday before Judge W. D. Ellis in the Fulton superior court.

The boy, Douglas Sams, was found dead in his bed on the morning of November 1, 1919, according to the evidence in the case and several doctors testified that death was caused by asphyxiation from illuminating gas.

At the hearing, the gas company claimed that the gas pipe and fixtures had been installed by the gas company on the day prior to the boy's death and that some of the connections were faulty.

Attorney Reuben A. Arnold and Lowry Arnold represent the plaintiff while Smith, Hammond and Smith represent the defendant company.

EARLY PRIMARIES WIN IN CLOSE VOTE

Addressed the committee in favor of proposed charter reform and advocated a referendum on the question of the primary. Committee member Haisleigh Davidson introduced a charter reform resolution advocating an aldermanic form of government. He proposed a city government directed by a mayor and eleven aldermen, one from each ward, the mayor to receive a salary of $5,000 and the aldermen $5,000 each. He would also abolish all boards and elect all department heads by the people, except the city clerk and city controller, whom he would have named by the board of aldermen. His resolution was tabled.

A resolution was adopted to permit women to register for the election without the payment of a fee, as they did last year, and a resolution was also approved to name women as managers and clerks at the election.

Unable to Serve.

Mrs. Haynes McFadden, appointed as one of the women representatives from the eighth ward, sent a communication stating that she would be unable to serve, and the vacancy will be filled at the next meeting.

Ivan E. Allen was elected a member from the eighth to succeed John Martin, resigned. C. M. Lancaster and C. A. Miles were elected to fill vacancies in the fourth ward.

L. P. Bowen was elected as committee man from the eleventh ward to succeed Homer C. Denton, who resigned to make the race for councilman from the eleventh.

$1,100 Diamond Ring Recovered; Three Are Held

Recovery of the $1,100 diamond ring stolen from Mrs. M. J. Glenn, of Norfolk, Va., in a hold-up last Friday night, was effected Thursday by Detective O. R. Jones. Detective Jones, police say, found the ring in possession of a soldier at Fort McPherson. The ring had been given him, police say, by the soldier's mother, for safe keeping by Robert Mendelsohn and Dewey Webb, two other Fort McPherson soldiers, who were arrested and bound over Thursday morning by Judge Hathcock in municipal court, under $5,000 bond, for their alleged part in the hold-up.

Immediately after the recovery of the ring, Detective Jones had a warrant sworn out for Mrs. C. C. Arthur, who is said to have been one of Mrs. Glenn's companions the night of the hold-up. She was arrested and lodged in the Fulton Tower in default of $2,000 bond. The arrest came as the result of information concerning the whereabouts of the jewels taken in the hold-up, which are expected to be recovered according to Detective Jones.

The total losses of Mrs. Glenn are estimated at $1,500.

In the statement made by the result of a conspiracy between the soldiers and Mrs. Arthur, in whose car she was riding, according to Mrs. Glenn, there seemed to be an understanding between the soldiers and Arthur, she charged.

Mrs. Arthur will be given a hearing before Judge Hathcock at 10 o'clock Friday morning.

According to Mendelsohn, who testified relative to certain phases of the affair, he turned the jewels taken from Mrs. Glenn over to Mrs. Arthur when she visited him at the county jail. He also insisted that Hightower, he said, had nothing to do with it.

CROWD EXPECTED TO ATTEND JUNIOR CHAMBER FROLIC

"Come early and avoid the rush" is the advice of J. C. Robinson, secretary of the junior chamber of commerce, regarding the "frolic" to be staged Friday night at the Capital City club, "for," he said Thursday, "if any one comes strolling around late, without a reservation, and without a partner, he is certainly going to be out of luck."

Mr. Robinson called attention to the fact that accommodations for more than 1,200 members, in addition to guests accompanying them, is out of the question. Enthusiasm over the function, the first ever attempted by the junior organization since its charter was granted, has reached the keenest stage.

Capping the program will be a variety show, for want of a more appropriate name, and some of the combinations ranging from the old-fashioned executed dialogues and monologues by black and white comedians will live the affair.

E. F. Floyd and his quartet will offer selections ranging from "Rumors" to "Ain't We Got Fun," and among others, all from the junior chamber, appear such as the following: Misses Margaret Bryant, Margaret McCormack and Gertrude Kelly and George Davis, Ray Reall, Abel Winburn, Charles Wayne, John Byrne, C. A. Daniel, Fred Burghman, Lewis Hamilton, Paul Crutchfield, H. H. Johnson, William Lowe and others.

BOND VALIDATION HEARING IN JULY

In response to a request Thursday by Attorney W. H. Turrell, representing the state of Georgia, before the state supreme court on the proposed validation of the recent bond issue of $5,000,000, voted by the people of Atlanta, for an early hearing, Chief Justice Fish said that the matter would be set down for a hearing not later than the third Monday in July.

The legality of the bond issue was contested in the Fulton superior court by Walter R. Brown, and the controversy was carried to the supreme court on a bill of exceptions.

CONTRACTOR FREED IN FEDERAL COURT

After a thirty minute absence of the jury, William P. Boles, a contractor of Duluth, Ga., charged with receiving stolen government property, was acquitted in the federal court Thursday morning. Boles, who had been employed at Camp Gordon, is alleged to have had in his possession army blankets and other soldier equipment.

$2,300,000 REEDED FOR 1922 PENSIONS

Commissioner Asks Assembly to Approve At Once $351,000 Amount of Present Deficiency.

In a statement made yesterday to the general assembly, Pension Commissioner J. C. Lindsey calculated that a total of $2,300,000 will have to be appropriated to pay 25,355 pensioners for 1922, at the rate of $850 each, and the fee to ordinance for distributing the money. This makes his calculation for any deficiency that may occur, was the case last year. For 1922 there will be 15,601 pensioners, to be paid $175 each, under the provisions of the existing law, which assesses every pensioner automatically $25 a year. These will require an appropriation of $2,400,000.

His statement shows the deficiency now existing on the current year's pension lists are:

To pay increases of $25 and $15, not appropriated for 1921, 248 pensioners on the "old rolls," $285,000. To pay 5,868 "new pensioners" for 1921, with the increase of $250, making a total of $960,000. On that total a credit is taken by the commissioner for "less the balance of appropriation for 1921 of $100,072," leaving an actual deficiency now of $2,400,000, which he asks be immediately appropriated and made available in order that all the pensioners for 1921 may be cleared up.

"New" Pension Law.

Commenting on the pension situation, which has fallen further behind this year than ever in the past, Commissioner Lindsey says:

It will be remembered that the general assembly, in 1919, passed the new pension law, admitting to the pension rolls all those who had been before that time removing the $1,000 property clause, and including widows whose husbands took place after 1870 and before 1882—that general assembly made the appropriation for 1920 of $2,300,000, and asking that provision to pay them for 1920 be made.

The general assembly promptly appropriated $475,000 to pay them for 1920, but provided no money to make the payment, leaving the balance of $2,000,000, which was made in 1919, to be sufficient for both the "old" rolls and the "new" rolls, which, in fact, it required $1,234,168.70 to pay the "old" rolls alone.

That general assembly also made an appropriation of $250,000 to complete the payment of the "old" rolls, and the balance of $1,234,168.70 cannot be made until the money is available and the pensioners, both the "old" and the "new," have been paid for 1920.

The general assembly, in 1920, passed a bill to increase the pension law, and as shown by statement submitted, there are 5,066 of the "new" class to be provided for and to pay for 1921, which will require $675,000 to pay.

The appropriation of $1,250,000 being insufficient to pay the "old" rolls with the increases, they have not been included in the balance being made to the 11,000 pensioners on the "old" rolls. It will require $285,000 to complete the payment to them for 1921.

The deficiency for 1921 will be $960,000, the balance of the appropriation, $100,072, for 1921, making the net deficiency which will be required to pay all pensioners due for 1921, $1,060,072.

The appropriations asked to be made for 1922, based upon estimates on file of all the years of my connection with the pension office, the past and present years have been the most strenuous and disheartening, and everything possible should be done to avoid a repetition of the condition that has existed so far this year.

Pendleton Unjust In Rapping Bonus Bill Plea, Charge

Tech Vocational Students Ask Why Commandant Opposes Petition.

Denouncing the action taken by Major A. L. Pendleton, Jr., commandant of the Tech R. O. T. C., in writing congressmen in Washington and urging them to protest against passage of the Gallivan resolution, which would provide for a restraining order against the Dempsey-Carpenter fight in Jersey City on July 2 until congress had acted favorably on the cash soldier bonus bill, Harry L. Lewis and Clyde H. McArthur, members of the Tech vocational training school, Thursday submitted a statement which assailed Major Pendleton's attack upon their cause on the grounds that it was both "unwarranted and unjust."

The statement was drawn up by these two members and is said to be the sentiment of all men coming under the category of those attacked.

The action was taken by Major Pendleton following the sending to congressmen of a petition signed by more than 100 disabled Tech soldiers in which they protested against the champion ship bout rank congressional action had been taken to give them "just recompense for their cause on the grounds that it was both 'unwarranted and unjust.'"

The petition was further attacked by the major on the grounds that such a cash bonus would "make loafers" out of every one of the soldiers, and declared that "not a man among them is entitled to a cash bonus."

Following is the protesting statement submitted from the disabled soldier-students, in which they said:

"We want to know why Major Pendleton opposes a bonus for service men who are disabled badly in need of funds and unable to get them from any source other than the bonus."

"With reference to his statement that the bonus would make loafers out of every one of the soldiers, we say that the bonus would be a reward for the men who occupied positions just as responsible as that of Major Pendleton prior to the war, and we further contend that he is doing us a great injustice in thus willfully exaggerating the situation."

"He states that not a man of us deserves a bonus. We would like to know if Major Pendleton is financially situated as many of us are—that is if he is practically penniless and has dependents who make it necessary for him to closely guard his outlay of every nickel."

"We gave up our positions and volunteered to fight for our country. If we are not deserving of consideration by our country in return, then we admit that Major Pendleton is right."

WIFE OF BOY-ED MUST SHOW CAUSE FOR JAILING MAN

Mrs. Ella Theodora Wilson Boy-Ed, who brought suit for divorce Wednesday against W. H. Boy-Ed, in which she alleges that he was a former German spy, will be required to show cause Friday morning in the superior court why the writ of habeas corpus for which Boy-Ed was placed in jail Wednesday should not be dismissed. An order to this effect was issued by Judge John T. Pendleton Thursday morning.

Attorneys William E. Arnold and Howard Stevens petitioned the court for a revocation or modification of the writ on which Boy-Ed was put in jail on the ground that Mrs. Boy-Ed did not make an affidavit positively swearing that Boy-Ed was about to leave the state. The new petition of the alleged German spy charges that his wife swore only to the best of her belief he was about to leave the confines of the state, and that he could not be reasonably relied on such an affidavit.

Boy-Ed recently sued Attorney Swift Tyler for $25,000 damages for the alleged alienation of his wife's affections.

Refreshing showers similar to the one which dropped on the city Thursday afternoon from a cloud which came on just a few minutes' notice from somewhere up towards Buckhead or Chamblie, probably will fall today, it was wigwagged from the local weather hut Thursday night.

In any event the day will be somewhat cloudy, it is predicted. The rain yesterday benefited crops considerably, and local gardens took a new lease on life. MANSION IS VACATED BY GOVERNOR DORSEY

As his term of office expires Saturday, Governor Hugh M. Dorsey Thursday moved out of the governor's mansion and now occupies his summer home, located on the water-works road near Bolton. Early this fall the governor will begin work on erecting a new home on Wesley avenue.

The governor was much pleased over being able to leave the mansion because of its dilapidated condition. Governor-elect Hardwick, who will assume his duties as governor Saturday, will not live in the mansion, but will continue to live at the Georgian Terrace.

JACK STOPS HEAVY WORK

Atlantic City, June 23.—After plans had been made today to have Jack Dempsey lay off, an announcement was made that the public would not be admitted to the camp, the world's heavyweight champion was compelled to get into his gymnasium clothes this afternoon to satisfy a crowd of about one thousand persons who were anxious to pay fifty cents to see Dempsey while the punching bags for thirty minutes.

"Look like you'll have to work a bit after all," said Jack Kearns, manager of the champion, when he saw the crowd crammed about the entrance to the big flying field. Dempsey was routed off his front porch to display his bag punching ability in an enclosed hanger back of the camp.

Dempsey exhibited his famous shift and other blows on the fluted bags for four three minute rounds and then hopped into the ring for a two minute round with the sixty pound felt-stuffed bag suspended from rafters in the center of the ring. He punched the swinging target for six minutes with astonishing power, sending it flying back six or seven feet with wicked straight lefts and rights. He wound up by taking one bending blow over the head with a vicious left.

Manager Kearns announced tonight that Kid Norfolk, the negro light heavyweight, and other sparring partners expected in camp to assist getting Dempsey into a fine fighting edge would not be needed. Dempsey had progressed so far in his training, Kearns said, that he will begin tapering off next week instead of continuing hard work with the gloves.

Tomorrow Dempsey will celebrate his twenty-sixth birthday with a complete rest. He will box Saturday and Sunday, and then only exhibit himself in a light workout on Monday. He will take his final workouts with the gloves on Tuesday and Wednesday. Just enough exercises to loosen up his muscles will be taken on Thursday. The champion will not do any training on Friday.

"We will move over to Jersey City Friday night to tag the Frenchman Saturday," Kearns added.

Plans to give Dempsey a demonstration when he leaves here a week from tomorrow were laid aside tonight when Manager Kearns told friends of a champion that he wanted the departure as quiet as possible. Dempsey will be hurried to a private residence in Jersey City to rest in seclusion until time to go to the arena.

AMERICUS PLANS FAST OUTFIT FOR SUMMER

Americus, Ga., June 23.—(Special.) Tommy Hooks and Alton Cogdell will manage Americus' semi-professional baseball team, which has been organized here, and two games a week will be scheduled in Sheffield field, the playground diamond, during the remainder of the ball season. An announcement to this effect was authorized this afternoon by Alton Cogdell, who says he expects to secure one or two fast pitchers for the team as soon as these can be secured. Infielders with semi-professional experience on fast teams are also wanted by the management of the organization.

Colon Cogdell, Mercer star first-sacker, who is reading law here this summer, will play with the team; Bradley Hoge probably will twirl a few games until a regular pitcher can be secured, and Tommy Hooks will do the receiving behind the willow. Other well-known local players will don Americus uniforms for the first game to be played next week, but all of these will have to work hard for places, and it has been determined to make the team a fast one.

WILLARD IS TOO BUSY TO DISCUSS BATTLE

Kansas City, June 23.—Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion, told friends here today that he was too busy to be in Jersey City, N. J., on July 2 to witness the championship bout between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier. He added that he had stopped over here while en route to oil fields in Montana.

Asked what chance he thought Carpentier would have with the champion, Willard said: "I haven't seen Dempsey for a long time."

In response to a question as to whether he planned to fight Carpentier should the latter defeat Dempsey, Willard declared: "I am too busy to think of fighting anybody just now."

Social Circle Wins Two.

Social Circle, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—Social Circle, in the Middle Georgia league with Covington, Rutledge, Madison, Greensboro and Eatonton won its first two games of the season on home grounds, holding now the average of 1.00. The first game with Rutledge on Wednesday was jam-up ball for amateurs, ending with the score 7 to 6. Batteries for Social Circle, Hammon and Lloyd; for visitors, Hooks and Oxford.

The second game with Madison was a fine exhibition of baseball, with only 2 errors charged up. Camp, for Social Circle, was invincible, with solid support. Milligan opened weak and allowed four runs in the first inning and tightening up only one run crossed the plate for eight innings. Score, 5 to 2.

Last Public Workout for Carp Shows the Fans His Hard Right

BY ROBERT EDGREN

Manhasset, June 23.—(Special.)—In spite of terrific heat and sultry skies, Georges Carpentier went through one of his hardest workouts here today. At the end of it, Victor Breyer, famous French sportsman and editor of El Echo des Sports, who was one of the visitors recently arrived, stepped to the edge of the ring platform, and announced that the French champion is nearly ready for the fight, and intends to finish his preparations in private. No one will be admitted to his quarters from now until the day of the fight. This was his last public exhibition.

Carpentier says that he doesn't feel the sultry heat to any distressing extent, but he looks a little drawn. He wants to hold as much weight as he can, and training on the north shore of Long Island, the hottest place around New York, will pull him down very quickly. His day's work undoubtedly cost him several pounds—easier to take off than put on in this weather. An unusually big crowd saw the boxing for every steamer from overseas brings in a fresh battalion of Carpentier's French and Indian admirers.

Number of Visitors.

No other fight in all history of the sport ever brought so many sportsmen from the other side. To a man, they think Carpentier will surely whip Dempsey. But in talking to them and the notion general that Dempsey is a big, strong, clever fighter, they are not quite equal to Carpentier's they lift their brows and shrug their shoulders as if to say, "Fardon me, but that, of course, is quite impossible."

Punches Bag.

Carpentier punched the bag a few minutes and then went into the ring out behind the barn, while several hundred spectators gathered on the hillside. First to put on the gloves with the French boy was Dave Rose, who recently changed his name to Danny Ross, a middleweight. Carpentier boxed rather easily with him for three minutes, rested a minute and then faced Dave Rosenberg, who fought Mike Gibbons a couple of weeks ago without being put down. Rosenberg is fairly last and clever, and he showed in the Gibbons fight that he can take a lot of punching. They stepped toward each other, sparred a moment and then Carpentier right punch to Dave's chin. Rosenberg went down in a heap. It was the first time Carpentier had shown the public his famous right-hand punch, delivered with the real kick behind.

When the middleweight was all right again, Carpentier made a fierce face—his Dempsey—and rushed him into a corner, where he used a rapid-fire of lefts below and above, in the body and instantly raised in a sharp crack at the chin with an occasional right thrown in for good measure.

Next came Arnold, a thick neck, from Buffalo, who smiled at Carpentier as he ducked the first hard right and bobbed up out of range. Arnold seemed amused. Another right missed, and it seemed Carpentier put a lot of stuff in that one. Arnold drew back, grinning, when a

NO REMARKS FROM MARTIN

Memphis, Tenn., June 23.—John D. Martin, president of the Southern association, declined to comment today on a telegram sent to league headquarters here by Charles Frank, manager of the Atlanta club, demanding an immediate investigation of the "conduct and playing of the Rock club" in recent game in Atlanta.

Mr. Martin stated that he had received Mr. Frank's telegram but would make no statement as to what action was contemplated. As from Atlanta, Mr. Frank indicated he would cancel all future games between the Atlanta and Little Rock clubs unless he was given assurance there would be no repetition of what he considered objectionable conduct on the field.

Dawson Beats Leary.

Dawson, Ga., June 23.—(Special.) Dawson again defeated the Leary aggregation by a score of 5 to 2 here today. Lanier for the visitors and Pollard for the home club both twirled good ball, Pollard yielding but four hits. Reddick, Drim and E. Pinkston led the locals attack, while Dozier batted best for the visitors. The same teams play again here Thursday afternoon and as this is the weekly half holiday a large crowd will be out.

Batteries—Leary, Lanier and Lawrence; Dawson, Pollard, Reddick and Gammage.

Indians to Play.

The Federal Prison Indians will meet the Atlanta Cubs Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Joyland park. Polndexter will pitch for the Indians.

Danielsville Wins.

Savannah, Ga., June 23.—(Special.) The commencement address to the graduating class of the Junior high school was delivered by Mrs. William Heard, a woman member of the board of education of Savannah and Chatham County. WATSON ATTACKS SLOWNESS TO ACT

Repeal of Excess Profits Tax and Passage of Revenue Enactments Urged by Indiana Senator.

Washington, June 23.—President Harding took a hand in the legislative program today in an effort to speed up enactment of tariff and tax legislation by calling Chairman Fordney by the house ways and means committee, to the white house to discuss the possibilities of early passage of such laws.

Meanwhile the suggestion was renewed in the senate by Senator Watson, of Indiana, a republican member of the finance committee, that tax revision be placed ahead of tariff legislation. The question gave leaders some trouble early in the extra session and its revival today made it appear that another effort would be attempted to subordinate tariff to taxation in the legislative program.

Goes to Committee.

Mr. Fordney informed the president that the republican committee draft of the permanent tariff bill would be ready by Monday or Tuesday for consideration of the full committee. He did not indicate how much time would be required for consideration of the bill by the whole committee membership, although he explained that a caucus of house republicans would be held before the bill is submitted formally to the house.

Senator Watson's suggestion led to floor statements by a half dozen republican and democratic senators that they would support his proposal.

"The country is in the midst of an intense economic reaction from the war," Senator Watson said. "This is not the fault of legislation. The country can rest assured that both the tariff and revenue bills will pass, but my own thought is that we cannot revive business until we first repeal the excess profit taxes and the higher surtaxes upon income."

"They are impressive influences on business, even though they are not to be paid, because the business depression will reduce their yield to the vanishing point. The situation condemns labor to idleness and the train of economic evils."

"Why look so fiercely at us democrats?" Senator Pomerene, democrat, Ohio inquired.

"Three Weeks' Delay." "I was not looking fiercely, but pityingly," Senator Watson retorted. "I am not criticizing or blaming anybody. We can expect the general tariff bill to be reported to the house within ten days, and to be enacted within three weeks after that. It will take some time for the tariff bill to get through the senate finance committee, four or five weeks."

"Within that period we may expect the house to pass the revenue bill and that bill I hope to see taken up and passed in the senate before the tariff bill."

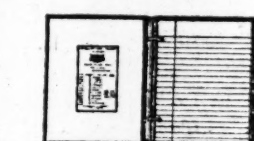

"We can formulate a tariff bill, but with the present disturbance of international exchange, the derangement of economic life all over the globe, conditions inevitably will make some details of any bill we bring out obsolete within six months. On the other hand, if we pass the revenue law, business will have some reassurance; it will know what its burdens are to be; the direct burden it has to carry. Then we can take up the tariff and the other questions which perplex us."

SERVICES ARE HELD FOR JUDGE J. L. WILLIS

Columbus, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—Funeral service for Judge James L. Willis, prominent member of the Columbus bar, and for more than 30 years judge of the city court of Columbus, whose death occurred Wednesday morning, were conducted at his late home in Wynnton, at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, by Dr. W. K. Dennis. Interment followed in Linwood.

The entire bar association attended the funeral in a body, and most of the city and county officials were also in attendance.

Judge Willis, a native of Talbot county, had been in Columbus 35 years and few were better known and more popular. He was appointed judge of the city court here by Governor Gordon immediately after this court was established, and his judicial record was most creditable. He leaves a wife, two daughters and one son. Mrs. Emily Atkinson, of LaGrange, is a sister.

Palmer's Effort To Help Thirsty Goes to Waste

Washington, June 23.—Not for the first time the bill which the author of the enforcement act and his supporting organization, the Anti-Saloon League, have introduced into Congress has failed to pass.

The bill, which would prohibit the sale of beer and other alcoholic beverages to anyone who is under the age of 21, was introduced by Representative Charles C. Palmer of Ohio.

WOMEN FAVORED ON SCHOOL BOARD

Last Monday, city council elected a woman member of the board of trustees of Carnegie library. Thursday afternoon, the members of the same body adopted a proposed charter amendment asking the legislature to give women the privilege to become members of the board of education.

Councilman Claude Ashley was the author of the measure. He was also the author of a resolution seeking a charter amendment that would give the public schools 20 per cent of the city's total current revenue.

Atlanta's quota of the state tuition fund and the non-resident tuition fees in addition. He would also empower the board of education to borrow money. This resolution was adopted by a vote of 10 to 2.

When the charter amendment was adopted, the city council also adopted a resolution to revise the city's charter to give the board of education the power to borrow money.
